

Seymour Pink hosts a memorable fundraiser in Oxford

By Patricia Villers

Photos by Peggy Dinan Carvalho and Patricia Villers

OXFORD - Neither rain, nor snow, nor August heat can stop the dedicated volunteers who support Seymour Pink.

My husband Ralph and I learned that Saturday at the nonprofit's fundraiser, A Pink Day to Remember, held outside Rose's Family Restaurant at Little River Shopping Center.

Seymour Pink, a community's fight against breast cancer, generously helped my family after my breast cancer diagnosis and treatment.

And I will always be grateful.

The organization's mission is to fund breast cancer research, raise awareness, and support victims of the disease and their families.

It was nice to see a lot of the friendly faces of those who make Seymour Pink the wonderful organization it is.

A major fundraiser, A Pink Night to Remember, was scheduled in March but the pandemic forced cancellation of the annual event.

Volunteers came up with an alternate plan - an outdoor get-together for survivors and supporters that followed social distancing requirements.

And it worked!

Article continues on P.2

Seymour Pink hosts a memorable fundraiser in Oxford

Continued from P.1

Tables loaded with raffle prizes were set up along the sidewalk and I was lucky enough to win a beautiful basket donated by the Oxford-based Grateful Vibes Only organization. It was filled with love!

There were chocolates, a pink blanket, a pink candle, a pitcher, a mug, and much more.

Ralph and I celebrated by enjoying a late lunch at Rose's.

We both hope Saturday's event was a fundraising success! I'd like to send my gratitude to all who made it happen.

VALLEY MARTIN LUTHER KING COMMITTEE

PRESENTS

Community

A dialogue of equity, justice and compassion for all!

Listening to our Youth

August 6th

7:00PM - 8:30 PM

Panelists and Q&A

Web ID: 864 3616 9847

Password: 6TiJP5

Breon Sanders

Chief Andy Cota

Maliqa Mosley-Williams

Pastor Niki Harvell

Dr. Joseph DiBacco

E-mail
MLKcommittee.ansonias@gmail.com with any topics and questions you may have!